Several basic candles

Heat the carving wax to 70° C and pour on the plaquet. For a thin, pliable layer ½ litre on the plaquet will be enough. For thicker layers fill the plaque with 1 litre.

By the time the wax layer is hard enough cut strips of about 1 x 1 cm. If desired the wax layer can be coloured with colour tablets. Wrap each strip in decorative wax or cover a thin layer of wax with decorative wax and roll it up. Also wrap this roll in decorative wax. Now combine several strips and rolls by pressing them together and finally wrap this combination of about Ø 5-6 cm in decorative wax.

Use the knife to cut thin layers and press them on your basic candles. The layer can be attached to the surface because the decorative wax is a little bit sticky. The thinner the layer the better.

Store the rolls at a warm place, the cutting is easier if the roll is warm. Finally dip the candle in uncoloured wax.

The pattern that arises depends on the chosen combination and colour.

Use your imagination to create colourful millefiori candles.
