Robust workers

You're probably already familiar with our purple soap machine, the ZXM-05000 extruder. This is a superb, powerful soap machine with a 1500 Watt output. It is placed inside a sturdy housing, equipped with PLC control (a small computer) and has a bronze worm screw. This PLC control manages the machine for you: all aspects can be preset. It indicates the correct working temperature and performs self-diagnostics to inform you whether or not everything is working smoothly. However, not everyone needs this kind of technology. This is why we're adding two diligent workhorses to our range. They are the ZXM-07000, a 1500 Watt extruder, and the ZXM-07050, a 2200 Watt extruder. We've limited the electronics in both machines to a minimum and left off the attractive finishes on the housing. What remains are two tough and robust workers which ooze power. Of course, we haven't compromised safety and the worm screw is still made of bronze.

There are many standard electronic options

We are in the process of developing water cooling systems for both these new machines and we hope to be able to offer these in our next direct mail. The water cooling systems are complete, but are still undergoing intensive testing. The new machines have been configured to fit this option.

Perfume trends

Perfumes are also affected by current trends. Gildewerk in the Netherlands and Ydra in France, in conjunction with the best perfume manufacturers, strive towards acquiring the most refined perfume oils. We always select the scents that are most in line with our demands and the wishes of our customers. Due to changes to products and manufacturers, our range has ended up containing a number of different codes. To make it easier for you and for ourselves, we've decided to revise the entire perfume product list. Please note: all the YPS and ZPO perfume order codes will cease to exist and will be replaced by the YZS code.

New perfumes

Perhaps you've noticed some new names in the list which have never been available under the YPS or ZPO codes.

YZS-0433	Diane	an extremely feminine, fresh, floral composition with fruity accents
YZS-0608	Fanny	floral with a sandalwood and amber base

CANDLE MAKING

Pigments and colourants

Our colour tablets have been the obvious choice for candle makers for many years. These colour tablets consist of solid concentrated pigment and are thus easy to measure into doses. It's easy to reproduce a certain colour once you've made it. Our pigments and colourants are synthetic, inorganic colours with certain additives which enhance their characteristics. The colours are produced in such a way that harmless, optimum-quality products are created. Our colourants are better suited to the colouring of Eco- and Bio waxes than our pigments are because they are fat-soluble. Please note that there is a difference between pigments and colourants. We'll explain the differences below.

Pigments

- are colourfast, they seldom discolour when exposed to daylight and are therefore ideal for the colour dipping of candles
 - resist high temperatures
 - are acid-resistant: that's why it's advisable to colour stearin and marble wax candles with pigments
 - cope well with perfume oil and should therefore be used when making perfumed candles
 - don't dissolve in wax.
- The pigment particles will be spread throughout the wax by stirring. Molten solutions must be constantly stirred to prevent pigment particles from sinking to the bottom
- can be used for through-and-through colouring of candles, but these candles might not burn perfectly
 - are supplied in handy colour tablet form, but are also available as pigment granules.

Colourants:

- are fat-soluble
 - dissolve, so the candles burn perfectly
 - do not cope well with high temperatures and perfume oil. They are not colourfast.
- For this reason, colourants contain a small amount of UV protection, although the addition of extra protection may be necessary
- are only suitable for through-and through colouring of candles and not for colour dipping
 - tend to migrate, which means that if two differently coloured candles are stored next to each other, the colours might mix. Also packaging film and even synthetic casts can become discoloured due to this
 - are supplied in granule form

For the through-and-through colouring of our eco/bio waxes, we recommend that you use our colourants as follows: Add 0,1% up to a maximum of 0,2% (1–2 g per kg). Remember that the resulting colour strongly depends on the type of wax used. The addition of perfume can also affect the colour. We also recommend that you add UV protection (0,15% up to a maximum of 0,4% = 1,5–4 g/kg).

Pre-waxed wick with wick foot

You'll require a thicker wick for eco waxes than the wick you would use for regular paraffin. This thicker wick is more suitable for use with large glass than WPT-00100. For POT-00110 (large glass) and large tea light, use price per 250 p.

WPT-00110 pre-waxed wick, extra thick, 10 cm in length, with wick foot	€ 14,95
